Environmental-Resistance

We offer a wide range of cable options, including waterproof, oil-proof, mildew-proof, flame-proof, abrasion-resistant, heat-resistant, and corrosion-resistant to protect the wiring or cable against wear and tear or other harsh environmental conditions.

A Wide Variety of Options

At WEIPU, we offer cable assemblies for signal-, data-, and power transmission, whether standard or custom. We also offer a wide range of cable material options, shielding functions, overmolding, and more to meet the needs of different industries.

WEIPU connector and associated cable assembly service offer several benefits:

• Reliability

To reduce the risk of compatibility issues between connector and cable, ensuring work seamlessly with each other.

• Quality assurance

Working with WEIPU for both components can help ensure that they meet the same quality standards, reducing the risk of failures or malfunctions.

• Customization

By choosing WEIPU to offer both connector and cable assembly services, you can often receive a more customized solution that meets your exact needs and specifications.

• Time & Cost-saving

With high-quality connector and cable assembly, WEIPU helps you simplify the production process and save time and cost on sourcing, assembly, and testing.
